Ho-Ho-Ho- Have a Secure Christmas

Guard-Alert Security wishes you a Merry Christmas and a happy new year. As you shut down your offices and take a well deserved break, please do remember that Guard-Alert Security is at your service 24 hours a day, 7 days a week- we are not taking a break so that you can have peace of mind during the coming holidays.

For householders, who decide to travel over the festive holidays, Guard-Alert is happy to offer a sundry guard service for the particular days when you are not at home just for your peace of mind. Should you contract a Guard for those few days, you will get householders insurance valued at $20 000.00, absolutely free. Contact us for more information on this value for money product.

Securing your office is of fundamental importance while you are away. It is important to secure your premises and take into account the points below, to prevent unnecessary loss for your business during the annual shutdown.

- Lock up- Lock away all valuables, for example laptops, printers- items which are easily portable should there be a break in

- Data backup- Ensure that all data is backed up in case of data loss due to theft or damage of computer equipment during storms

- Cash- If your business handles cash, make arrangements for Armsec, the Guard-Alert armed guards division, to collect your cash at set times and store it in their vaults, so as to avoid storage of huge amounts of cash on your premises

- Key holders Ensure that there are designated key holders/ staff that are responsible in case of emergency. These should also be decision makers so that they are decisive when the occasion calls for it

- Power- turn off all unnecessary power points- this will reduce fire hazards in case of any electrical faults, and will also save you on your power bill as there will be no

unnecessary power usage

- Emergency contact details- ensure that emergency contact numbers are readily available in case of emergency

- Risk analysis- if unsure of your holiday security needs, contact Guard-Alert Security for a risk analysis so that you can prepare adequately for your security needs over the holidays.
